

The Seafarer

TRANSPARENCY 2

Circle the letter next to the word or group of words that belongs in each space.

“The Seafarer” 1 from the so-called Exeter Book, a manuscript of miscellaneous Anglo-Saxon poems dating from around A.D. 940, copied by monks in A.D. 975, and now 2 at Exeter Cathedral in England. Although the manuscript has survived raids and fires through the centuries, it 3 always well kept. There are signs that its cover 4 as a chopping board, and some pages have been partly burned.

- 1 A are
B is
C had been
D were

- 3 A has not been
B was not going to be
C have not been
D will not have been

- 2 F preserving
G has been preserved
H preserved
J will be preserved

- 4 F have been used
G having been used
H were used
J was used

The Seafarer

2

Circle the letter next to the word or group of words that belongs in each space.

“The Seafarer” 1 from the so-called Exeter Book, a manuscript of miscellaneous Anglo-Saxon poems dating from around A.D. 940, copied by monks in A.D. 975, and now 2 at Exeter Cathedral in England. Although the manuscript has survived raids and fires through the centuries, it 3 always well kept. There are signs that its cover 4 as a chopping board, and some pages have been partly burned.

- 1 A are
B is
C had been
D were

- 3 A has not been
B was not going to be
C have not been
D will not have been

- 2 F preserving
G has been preserved
H preserved
J will be preserved

- 4 F have been used
G having been used
H were used
J was used